Archbishop's computer contained over 100,000 child porn files OCTOBER 3, 2014 BY MICHAEL STONE F 15 COMMENTS

BELIEFS

More than 100,000 child porn videos and photos have been found on the computer of former Archbishop Jozef Wesolowski, who is also accused of raping numerous children in the Dominican Republic and Poland. Wesolowski, currently under house arrest at the Vatican, is one of the highest-ranking church officials to be accused widespread and costly sexual abuse scandal. The videos and photos of child pornography were stored on a computer in the office at the Holy See diplomatic compound in the Dominican Republic, where Wesolowski

served as papal nuncio in Santo Domingo. After being publicly accused of procuring child prostitutes last year, Wesolowski was secretly removed from his post as papal nuncio in Santo Domingo by Vatican officials hoping to avoid an embarrassing public prosecution.

Authorities in the Dominican Republic have been calling for Wesolowski's extradition: a court there has opened a case against the former Vatican ambassador, and the attorney general wants to criminally charge Wesolowski. Officials in Poland, Wesolowski's country of origin, and children, are also calling for his extradition. According to Vatican detectives, some of the horrors found on the former Archbishop's computer included around 160 videos showing teenage boys forced to perform sexual acts on themselves and on adults, and more than 86,000

Actually you're thinking of Hammurabi's Code.

He was doing "research" on the evils of pornography, no doubt!

Give him to the Dominicans, somehow I think their prison system will be the best choice.
